Death Leap From

An investigation has been launched by Chicago authorities into the disappearance of Mrs. Clara Patterson, 20, an artist's model, formerly of Cleveland, who was believed drowned in Lake Michigan when she was said to have leaped from the yacht, Pal O' Mine, below, into the water after tearing off her clothing during a party on the boat. A search is being made for the body.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Robert Fee of 226 West Grant street found a peculiar imago, or larva, of a butterfly which was unlike anything brought to The News office before. It was a bright yellow in color and had the ability to swell that portion of its body, just back of the head, like a cobra's hood. Two spots were located in the center of the head, which to all appearances resembled huge eyes, and when irritated it would curl its real head underneath and swell up the portion just back of it, giving it a fierce appearance.

As the canning season begins to draw to a close, the women of the city are again reminded that Monday, October 16, will be ingathering day for the Almira Home and they are asked to set aside a few jars and glasses of canned fruits and vegetables for this noble institution, which gives a splendid home to aged women.

A car bearing license plates 'UP 96' was in front of The News this morning. A little boy pointed at it and said, "Look, Pop, an NRA license."

Mayor Charles B. Mayne made a discovery at Gaston Park yesterday while attending the Garden club picnic. It gave him a thrill that took him back to his boyhood days. It was nothing more or less than a "Bee Tree" as they are known, a maple in this instance, in which bees were storing their winter supply of honey. Then Owen Fox showed him another, an Oak, but a short distance away. But that was not all, according to his honor, right at his feet, he discovered some yellow jackets had their store of honey in a hole in the ground. His honor stated that as a boy he would have fought for a chance to get at the honey tree but now he is inclined to fight to preserve the honey tree, especially when located in a public park.

Owners of cows in the vicinity of Gaston Park, apparently not content with pasturing their bovines in the grassy parts of the park, are inclined to have them pasture on the playgrounds of the place and interfere with the sports there.

Garbage Here Shows Increase

Due to the canning and the corn season there has been a big increase in the amount of garbage to be collected here according to Superintendent of collection H. M. Phillips. Collection has not been as prompt as during the summer months due to this condition. Phillips said that there are four trucks in operation.

AMERICANS TO GET PROTECTION

Government Plans No Action Unless Forced To By Situation On Island

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—All of the navy's sea and air warcraft on the Atlantic coast either raced southward today or stood prepared to leave on a moment's notice to protect American lives and property in Cuba. Twenty-two warships were steaming toward Cuban waters, more than half a dozen were already there, and nearly a dozen others were at their docks ready to leave.

This massed preparation gave added strength to President Roosevelt's appeal to the republic to set up a government chosen by the people and capable of maintaining order. Mr. Roosevelt's policy remained unchanged—that American intervention will be avoided if at all possible.

Aged Former New York Noted Pastor Dies In Fall From Window

(International News Service)
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 8.—Walking in his sleep, Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, 81, famed vice and graft crusader and former pastor of the Madison Square Presbyterian church, New York City, fell to his death early today when he tumbled through an open window at the home of a nephew, Winthrop Parkhurst, at Ventnor.

According to Dr. Isaac E. Leonard, Atlantic county medical examiner, the aged divine suffered a fractured skull. Dr. Leonard said all indications pointed to somnambulism as the cause of the accident. Dr. Parkhurst, he said, fell about sixteen feet to a concrete driveway and died a short time later in Atlantic City hospital.

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Sept. 8.—Most of us had the impression that the late big war was started all at once by Germany deciding it would be a good time to go through Belgium.

Well, do you know that this fellow that died yesterday, this Englishman, Viscount Grey, at that time was Britain's foreign secretary? Well, according to all official records that have been published, they had dozens of conferences and communications among all these nations for weeks. (Also read Col. House's books.)

So, according to all the dope, this fellow Grey had quite a time arranging the war. It looked for a while like he wasn't going to be able to put it on. Now I see where Lloyd George's book says the same thing. It's awful hard to get into a war without a diplomat.

Proposed Code Inaugurates Bold Experiments On New Lines

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Rigid government control was proposed today by the NRA as the salvation of the far-flung bituminous coal industry.

The plan—more far-reaching than any yet provided in recovery codes—is contained in the code laid before the industry for approval by National Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson.

Despite clouds of opposition to many provisions of the NRA code, Johnson expected to obtain a substantial agreement before a code is proclaimed by the president.

After announcing he would accept modification proposals up to 8 p. m. Saturday, Johnson called a public hearing for Monday afternoon to air grievances.

The code, which provides for reduction of hours of labor, minimum wages, price and production control, may be modified before it is proclaimed.

Decide To Wait For High Tide To Float Vessel Stranded On Cape Cod Canal

65 PASSENGERS ARE ON BOARD

(International News Service) BUZZARDS BAY, Mass., Sept. 8.—The Merchant's and Miners steamship, Ontario with 65 passengers and a cargo of freight bound for Philadelphia, went aground today in the Cape Cod canal during a dense fog.

All efforts to pull the craft into deep water failed, and a decision was made to wait high tide. Officials said there was no danger. The Ontario left Boston last night. The fog grew heavier as the vessel proceeded.

A radio call to Boston started the tug Luna and Venus to Buzzards Bay. The Sandwich coastguard station also picked up the call and sent a boat, but was unable to budge the Ontario.

All shipping through the canal was halted following the grounding.

NEW GOVERNMENT BEING ORGANIZED TO CONTROL CUBA

resented at an emergency meeting called at the Presidential palace to save Cuba from "foreign intervention."

The Junta and the leaders of all political factions, with the notable exception of the A. B. C., met at the palace, heavily guarded by troops who surrounded the building and mounted machine guns at strategic points.

New Government Plan

The new government plan, drawn by a "United Cuba" unanimously proposed American intervention, was revealed to International News Service by high authority. It contained the following points:

1. All of the 900 officers deprived of their rank in Tuesday's Coup d'Etat will be restored to command.

2. The new council of 16, the Junta and the seven party delegates, will rule until the new government is organized.

3. Great effort will be made to organize the new government and bid for American recognition before the American Secretary of the Navy, Claude A. Swanson, arrives on the Cruiser Indianapolis, expected in Havana this afternoon.

This development followed rapidly upon the arrival in Havana harbor of the American Cruiser Richmond and the Destroyer Bainbridge, and came only a few hours after it was made known the United States has a total of 30 warships either in Cuban waters or ready to proceed here immediately.

Hope For U. S. Recognition

Regardless of minor differences, all political leaders agreed that only two paths remained open after yesterday passed without notable progress toward formation of a solid government. These were recognition by the United States, or intervention.

They united in a supreme effort to attain the former by organizing an administration which would win the approval of President Roosevelt.

Women, taking a prominent part in the new movement, declared flatly they would form a "death battalion" to prevent the landing of American troops on Cuban soil.

"The women of Cuba," they said in a statement, "will be the first to arm and fight for liberty against any foreign intervention in our sovereign right to govern ourselves."

While crack mounted troops of the revolutionary army formed ranks outside the presidential palace, holding back crowds of anxious citizens, machine-guns were trained on all approaches to the rooms where the provisional dictatorship of five met with leaders of the opposing elements, whom they had called in an effort to ride out the crisis.

Sitting in the parley were representatives of nearly all of the elements which had brought about the downfall of President Gerardo Machado, but who had split into many warring factions after President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes stepped down from office.

In the group was the elderly Col. Carlos Mendieta, prominently mentioned as a likely candidate for the new presidential post.

Battle Over Government

HAVANA, Sept. 8.—Born by revolutionary strife and internal discord and facing possible armed intervention by United States Marines, Cuba strove today to select a new provisional government meeting with approval of the Roosevelt administration.

For eight hours, while a restless populace packed the cobbled streets of the Square facing the $20,000,000 presidential palace under watchful eyes of a crack company of the revolutionary army, the executive council and its newly appointed advisory group fought over Cuba's problems in the presidential chambers.

At the same time another battle raged in the ornate white and gold ballroom as a committee of officers deprived of their ranks when the De Cespedes government was overthrown balked at the revolutionary army demands that Sergeant Fulgencio, chief of the armed forces in the provisional Junta, be named chief of staff under whatever new government might be formed.

HAVANA, Sept. 8.—The extent to which Cubans are ready to go to prevent American intervention in their present crisis was clearly exemplified in reports freely going the rounds today that any American landing party would immediately be met by a hail of bullets.

Opposition to intervention was the one issue upon which all factions in Havana were united. It was the one point which laid the foundation for the formation of the "advisory commission" of ten political leaders to work with the Junta toward formation of a government acceptable to the United States.

eight-year-olds, were killed when Miller entered a highway intersection directly in the path of Myers' oncoming gasoline truck. The three boys riding on the running board obstructed Miller's vision, he said.

Did Not Stop.

Police corroborated Myers' statement that Miller did not stop upon reaching the intersection and that his own efforts to avoid a collision were of no avail.

Frye was the driver of the car which swerved from the same highway the previous night and hurled two Creekside girls from the guard rail on which they were seated, killing one and seriously injuring the other. Catherine Johnson, 17, was fatally injured and Pauline Lackey, 15, was badly hurt when Frye's car, according to police, ran on the berm for almost 60 feet before striking the rail. Officers said brakes and steering gear were defective on his car.

Henry's car killed Ralph T. Wold, 84, veteran Indiana mail carrier, on August 19. Henry was not held responsible.

The embassy made the following announcement:

The German foreign office on September 7 presented orally to Ambassador Dodd the deep regrets of the German government for the recent attacks upon American citizens Samuel B. Bossard of Pennsylvania and the son of H. V. Kaltenborn (former Brooklyn editor), and informed the ambassador the case had been turned over to police and officials of the Prussian ministry of the interior with instructions to take the most energetic action possible under the circumstances.

RIGID CONTROL BY GOVERNMENT

NRA PROPOSAL

lunally acted upon by President Roosevelt.

After submitting the code to the operators Johnson said: "They've got to take it or I'll give it to them."

The code not only inaugurates a bold experiment in industrial planning but introduces a new and compulsory method of settling all labor troubles and banning strikes in the bituminous field.

Thinks Order Will Be Restored.

Confident the code will bring order in an admittedly chaotic industry, Johnson conceded that coal prices would have to rise to sustain the code.

He said he would "stand for" prices advancing around $2 a ton. Coal advisers estimated that a 50 per cent increase in coal prices would be necessary to enable operators to meet their increased operating costs and make a profit.

While the coal code was being hurried to final action, the N. R. A. was facing new obstacles.

With non-union manufacturers still protesting against Johnson's ban on the "merit clause" in future codes, the industrial and labor advisory board of the N. R. A. met to seek means of starting a new truce between labor and industry.

Passed with demands for action to halt rising prices, the consumers advisory board of the N. R. A. decided to call for cost and price information when codes of fair competition are considered.

They also recommended consumer representation in the enforcement of codes of fair competition.

Arrest Driver In 'School Zone'

First school zone arrest was made by police Thursday at the Grant and Sampson street crossing. The offender was G. T. Peterson and he contended that it was not adjacent to the school. Mayor Mayne ruled that it was a protected zone for school children, because large numbers of the children have to cross at that point on their way to and from school. It is posted as a school zone. Peterson paid a fine of $10.

Chief of Police John F. Haven stated today that practically all school districts are being protected, but asked that the people of the city assist in making this protection of the school children as near perfect as possible.

JUST LEGISLATIVE OVERSIGHT P'RAPs

HARRISBURG, Sept. 8.—That singing in the bath tub is prohibited in Pennsylvania seems to have gained credence in California.

Secretary of the Commonwealth, Richard J. Beamish has received requests from two residents of that state for copies of such law. The last request comes from a man, who says that he is making a compilation of obsolete and ridiculous laws, and in addition to the proposed prohibition on vocalizing in the bath, asks for copies of similar ridiculous acts that may have been enacted here. He has been informed that he may come to Pennsylvania and sing in the bath tub without fear of interference from the law.

Federal Control Is Imposed Upon Big Oil Industry

Secretary Ickes Establishes Control Over $15,000,000,000 Oil Industry

TOTAL DOMESTIC OUTPUT REDUCED

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Iron-handed federal control was imposed upon the $15,000,000,000 oil industry today by Secretary of the Interior Ickes, despite reported opposition, and then quick denial and acquiescence from a powerful group of old-line companies, led by the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey.

Production quotas for the oil states, effective last midnight, limited the total domestic output to 2,400,700 barrels daily and pegged imports at the average daily level of the past six months.

In a reported private statement over long distance telephone to a member of Ickes' planning and coordinating committee, W. S. Parish, chairman of the New Jersey Standard's fight against the oil code into the open.

Information Refused. Charles F. Roeder of Texas, a committee member, reported at a special meeting that Parish refused to furnish information desired in a study of price-fixing proposals.

Parish was quoted as saying, "The committee is not representative of the oil industry" and "I hope it will make a mess of the price schedule and the bigger mess it makes, the better I will like it."

Ickes later declared: "I am unwilling to believe that any responsible officer of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey would make any such statement. My understanding is that the Standard of New Jersey subscribed to the code. My only information is that it is going along loyally and enthusiastically, cooperating with other producers and the government in carrying out the spirit of the code."

Later Parish issued a public statement in New York denying his company had refused to cooperate with the NRA. He said his company "is definitely pledged to cooperate in making the NRA a success."

Ickes pointed out that the allocation total, to which Parish allegedly objected, was subject to change in the light of experience; and that direct price-fixing, although authorized, had not been invoked. He added that the committee had not reported the Parish incident to him.

"Will Go Along." Administration officials expressed confidence the New Jersey Standard would "go along."

Back of this situation was a spirited struggle for supremacy between two titans of the great Rockefeller oil empire—Walter C. Teagle, president of the New York Standard, and K. R. Kingsbury, president of the California Standard. The latter, lining up with most of the independent producers, successfully demanded a price-fixing authorization in the oil code, along with drastic federal control over production and imports.

Teagle is chairman of the industrial advisory board of the NRA. The Rockefeller trial warfare brought about resignation of James A. Moffett as vice-president of the New Jersey Standard, after he had shown leanings toward the Kingsbury group.

Group Is Split.

The fight between the conservative group, led by Teagle, and the Kingsbury group split the administration itself. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, set his face against price-fixing. Ickes sided with the liberal crowd. He wrested from Johnson complete control over the industry, becoming a "czar." Then he appointed Moffett as one of his right-hand men on the planning and coordinating committee and named other liberals to constitute a balance of power.

The committee issued a statement admitting that a few "deliberate violations" have been reported but adding, "they only emphasize the general acceptance of the code." It expressed determination to "keep the motorist's gasoline prices down and at the same time protect refiners and dealers from heavy losses due to greatly increased labor costs."

No Disorders At Pittsburgh

Registration Day In Pittsburgh Goes Without Sign Of Trouble

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Sept. 8.—For the first time in recent campaigns Pittsburgh, staunch Republican stronghold, went through a registration day without any reported disorders or attempted intimidation of citizens at registration headquarters.

A total registration of 60,000 was rolled up yesterday. Registration commission officials estimated today. Of the districts actually reported, the Republicans had 27,569 voters enrolled and the Democratic organization had 6,905.

Many districts, overwhelmingly Republican in previous years, reported signs of a Democratic ascendancy.

State police, held in readiness all day, failed to find any evidence of "rioting" on several flying trips to registration places. They worked until early today bringing in registration books from suspected districts.

Deputy Coroner Tries To Find Out Name Of Man Who Blew Himself To Death

(International News Service) MONONGAHELA, Pa., Sept. 8.—Description of the man who blew himself to bits in a small mine near Charleroi two days ago was broadcast through the press today by Deputy Coroner L. M. Frye in an effort to identify him.

Frye said the man had been well dressed, wearing a blue shirt. He appeared to be an American of about 45 years of age. Other identifying marks were not available because of the condition of the body.

It was learned the man had purchased four sticks of dynamite from the Washington To-peco Company, and apparently had walked the 20 miles to the mine where he sat down on a rock just inside the entrance and ignited a stick of dynamite in his coat pocket and another upon which he sat.

INCREASE TAX 100% ON STORES IN REICH

(International News Service) SCHWERIN, Germany.—A 100 percent increase in taxes on department stores, just decreed by the Nazi "statthalter" or local governor has thrown local merchants into confusion and has led to much speculation as to whether the measure will be generalized throughout the Reich.

Taxes on chain stores, by the same decree, are raised 20 percent, that is to 40 percent on the turnover instead of the 20 percent levied hitherto. Department stores belonging to a chain system are however, exempt once they have paid the regular department store tax.

War On Illegal Train Riding

Cambria County Launches Campaign To Halt Dangerous Practice

EIGHT KILLED IN SIX WEEKS

 (International News Service)
 JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 8.—With the aid of the courts, the coroner, railroad police and other authorities enlisted, a campaign to halt illegal train riding in Cambria county was inaugurated today.

The campaign was fathered by Coroner Cyrus W. Davis in an effort to bring an end to a wave of fatal accidents involving train riders. Eight riders have been killed within 20 miles of here within the last six weeks.

Davis' plan was approved by the county commissioners, the four judges here and the district attorney's office. Railroad police promised arrests and the county's legal authorities will prosecute the cases. The court promise jail terms to violators. Offenders will be put to work on the county roads to earn their keep.

Still Some Whiskey Drinkers In State

 (International News Service)
 PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—Lifting of the restrictions on the issuance of whiskey prescriptions by physicians has been a boon to the bonded liquor industry.

Figures released by federal authorities here revealed that 9460 gallons of bonded stock was disposed of in Pennsylvania during July this year, as compared with 5849 gallons for the same period of 1932. In June this year, withdrawals from bonded warehouses amounted to 8879 gallons against 6243 gallons in June, 1932.

New Jersey's boom in bonded liquors, slower in getting started, has now spurred sensationally. In June this year 2181 gallons were sold, compared with 1257 last year. In July, 3625 gallons were withdrawn from warehouses to satisfy the demand. In July, 1932, sales totaled 1081 gallons.

Perry Highway Village To Act To Stop Fast Driving In Town

Motorists should exercise care in the manner in which they drive through Sheakleyville on the Perry Highway, George S. Reznor, secretary of the Mercer County Motor Club, said today.

Because motorists have made a practice of speeding through the village, officers are now engaged in strict enforcement of a 45-mile-an-hour speed limit. Two men are located an eighth of a mile apart at Sheakleyville, and are arresting all motorists who exceed the 45-mile-an-hour limit.

"SO HAPPY THAT I TRIED ALL-BRAN"

Delicious Cereal Brought Relief From Constipation

If you have headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness or any other of the frequent effects of constipation, read Mrs. Schneider's letter:

"Since I have been eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, I don't have to take anything else for constipation. How good it is, and how much better it is for constipation than pills or any other medicine.

"I would never go back to what I used to take, because Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is wholesome and healthful."—Mrs. John Schneider, 950 Tenth Street, Oakkosh, Wisconsin.

Constipation is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN has both, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the wastes.

Try ALL-BRAN in place of pills and drugs—so often habit-forming. Two tablespoons daily will overcome most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Ask Extradition For Zeberick In Cleveland, Ohio

Westmoreland County District Attorney Asks Governor Pinchot To Act

ALLEGED MEMBER OF HOLDUP GANG

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Sept. 8.—Extradition of Alec C. Zeberick, alias Whitey Kederick, alias Charles Gudanick, from Cleveland to Greensburg, Pa., to answer a seven-year-old indictment for the robbery of $75,000 from a Vandergrift bank messenger was demanded today by Victor E. Bouton, district attorney of Westmoreland county.

Bouton asked Gov. Gifford Pinchot to send extradition papers to Gov. George White of Ohio so that the prisoner can be returned to Greensburg immediately.

According to the petition, fingerprints and photographs show that Gudanick, who is in custody of Cleveland, is Alec C. Zeberick wanted in Westmoreland county to answer an indictment for the robbery of $75,000 bank notes and cash from Lawrence Walthour, teller and messenger of the Vandergrift Savings & Trust Company on November 4, 1925. Zeberick is alleged to have committed the robbery while armed.

Expect Coal Code Will Revolutionize Bituminous Industry

Code Provides For Drastic Action To Bring Coal Industry Out Of Chaos

Will Control Production, Prices And All Disputes Arising From Labor

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The bituminous coal code characterized by National Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson as the most comprehensive code yet prepared, is expected to virtually revolutionize the vast industry.

The code not only provides for control of production, prices and labor disputes, but paves the way for further drastic changes if found necessary to end the chaotic condition in the industry.

Under the code operators may employ men 32 hours a week for a six-months period and 40 hours a week for the next six months. Or, as an alternative, they can operate mines on a straight 36-hour schedule during the entire year.

Exceptions Provided

Exceptions from the working hours were provided for supervisors, clerks, technicians and a small number required to handle mine trips and to remain on duty while men are entering or leaving the mines.

If at any time a majority or unemployed workers want to share work with other miners, or a majority of employed workers, express a desire to share work, an equalization shall be made through conference, or district boards.

The labor provisions of the recovery act, recognizing the right of workers to organize, were specified. Miners shall have the right to a checkweighman of their own choosing with a further exception where wages are based on other than actual weights either by mutual agreement or because of physical conditions.

Wages must be paid semi-monthly in money. Deductions shall be a matter of agreement. Workers cannot be required to live in company houses, or trade at company stores and child labor is abolished.

Agree On Probe

The NRA agreed to begin an investigation and report before November 30 on the practicability of shortening work hours, possibly to a straight 30, 32 or 35 hour week, and on the question of revising wage differentials. And on December 1 a conference will be held to determine revision of wages, hours and differentials.

Unless revised, the code would be effective during the life of the recovery act—two years.

Selling of coal under a fair market price was declared unfair competition. Fair market prices were defined as minimum prices for various grades and sizes as determined by at least two-thirds of the operators, or those set by divisional code authorities where no sales agencies exist.

Consignment of unordered coal rebates and similar practices were barred.

Johnson, NRA administrator, had the labor troubles which are plaguing manufacturers all over the country brought home to him today when Erie Ross, secretary of the International Carpet Workers Union, protested to President Roosevelt, to General Johnson, and to Labor Secretary Frances Perkins that Lee Fabrics, Inc., of which General Johnson's president, was not living up to the NRA code.
Ross charged that the company had violated the code by discharging Herbert Smalley, one of its employees, "after taking active part in union organization work," and by reducing the working time from 48 hours to 40 hours without giving the workmen a rate of pay equivalent to the 48 hour total.

Weekly Health Talk

"The Century of Progress exposition, as more than 8,500,000 visitors have already realized, displays in a most impressive manner the remarkable advances made by civilization during the last hundred years. From the candle-wick to modern flood lighting, from the saddle to the Twentieth Century Limited and the transoceanic airplane, from the sailing ship to the floating palace of today, great distances have been traveled by science. And the same may be said for the marvelous discoveries and advances in medicine and surgery. However, man's conduct, so far as living habits are concerned, unfortunately have not kept pace with this amazing progress," states Dr. Theodore B. Appel, state secretary of health.
"Apparently, in spite of the great attractiveness of present-day living, as represented by creature comforts and inventions designed to add to the joy of existence, the average adult is just as different to his personal health habits as he was in the past 50 years or more. No other reason can be advanced for the unchanged average adult death rate. While 15 years have been added to life in Pennsylvania in the last three or four decades, the gain has only occurred in the age group from birth to 45 years, while is a sad comment on progress indeed.
"What many people seem to forget is that bodily requirements have become no less exacting with the march of time. Nature established fundamental rules, upon the observance of which the human body reasonably could be expected to function at its best, and no quantity of smart or even near-miraculous inventions in any way abrogates these basic demands.
"Therefore, while the inventors and their millions of beneficiaries justly may be proud of the great forward steps so attractively emphasized at the exposition, more stress apparently needs to be placed upon the old-fashioned and unchangeable personal rules of proper eating, sufficient rest, adequate exercise, fresh air and the elimination of de-vitalizing habits.

"Most decidedly, inventions that add to the pleasure of today's existence are one thing and progressive living is quite another. Unfortunately, many thousands of persons, very evidently by their careless manner of living, have been unable or unwilling to differentiate between them.
"One should not forget that progress in the last analysis must include safe and sane living if it is to mean maximum benefit to the average person of middle life or older."

Teachers And Education
To Unemployed Persons

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 8.—Details of a plan to give work to unemployed teachers and afford idle persons an opportunity to advance their education were being worked out by officials of the State Emergency Relief Board today.

The board has tentatively set aside $250,000 to give work to 500 teachers and an education to more than 5,000 persons. A final decision on the plan, which requires the expenditure of federal money, is expected to be reached at the board meeting next week. Before it can be put into effect, it must be approved by federal authorities.

Tentative plans call for the establishment of schools for adults at approximately 25 places with school rooms and other accommodations being furnished by local districts. It is proposed to pay teachers about $15 per week. It is planned to continue the courses six months and October 1 has been set as the temporary opening date. The road has been in use for a number of weeks, however, even though the tar preparation had not been applied. Other township roads are being fixed up for the winter, the road detector informs.

Professors To Weed Out Surplus Students

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—Exemplifying statements that better days are here again, Temple university, which last year could have used a few hundred more students—has appointed a special staff of faculty interviewers to weed out the applicants this year.

The inquisitorial staff has already started the task of giving several hundred candidates the "once over". Those lacking in poise, personality or aptitude will not be admitted to the freshman class. The examinations are in line with a new policy of selective enrollment which the institution has been able to inaugurate by an exceedingly large enrollment brought about by an increase in business.

Bakeries Will Need State Permit

HARRISBURG, Sept. 8.—Pure food agents of the bureau of foods and chemistry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, are now making sanitary inspections of bakeries in accordance with the new state bakery law, which became effective June 1. Dr. James W. Kellogg, director, today reported.

This work, he said, is preliminary to the enforcement of the licensing feature of the law which becomes effective next January 1. After that date, all persons using more than 50 pounds of flour a week in the manufacture of bakery products for sale, must register the products sold, pay a license fee, and secure a license. The fees are as follows: More than 50 pounds of flour but less than 100 barrels per week, $5.00; 100 but less than 200 barrels per week, $10.00; 200 barrels or more per week, $20.00.

New Clues Secured In Killing Of State Highway
Officer Brantlinger

KANSAS YOUTHS
ARE EXONERATED

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 8.—With the reward boosted to $5,000 and the first three suspects exonerated by proved alibis, State police and Allegheny county authorities today launched an intensive manhunt for the killers of State Highway Patrolman Herbert P. Brantlinger.

Plans for the drive to ferret out the two gunmen who shot Brantlinger to death when he sought to question them as they robbed a gasoline station at Bridgeville Labor Day morning were drawn up at a conference in the offices of District Attorney Andrew T. Park.

Captain L. C. Mauk of the State Police, County Detective Chief Geo. Murrin and city detectives sat in on the conference with Park. As the meeting was concluded county commissioners sent word to the investigators that a $4,000 reward for the killers had been approved by the county. The highway patrol previously put up $1,000.

Exonerate Kansas Lads

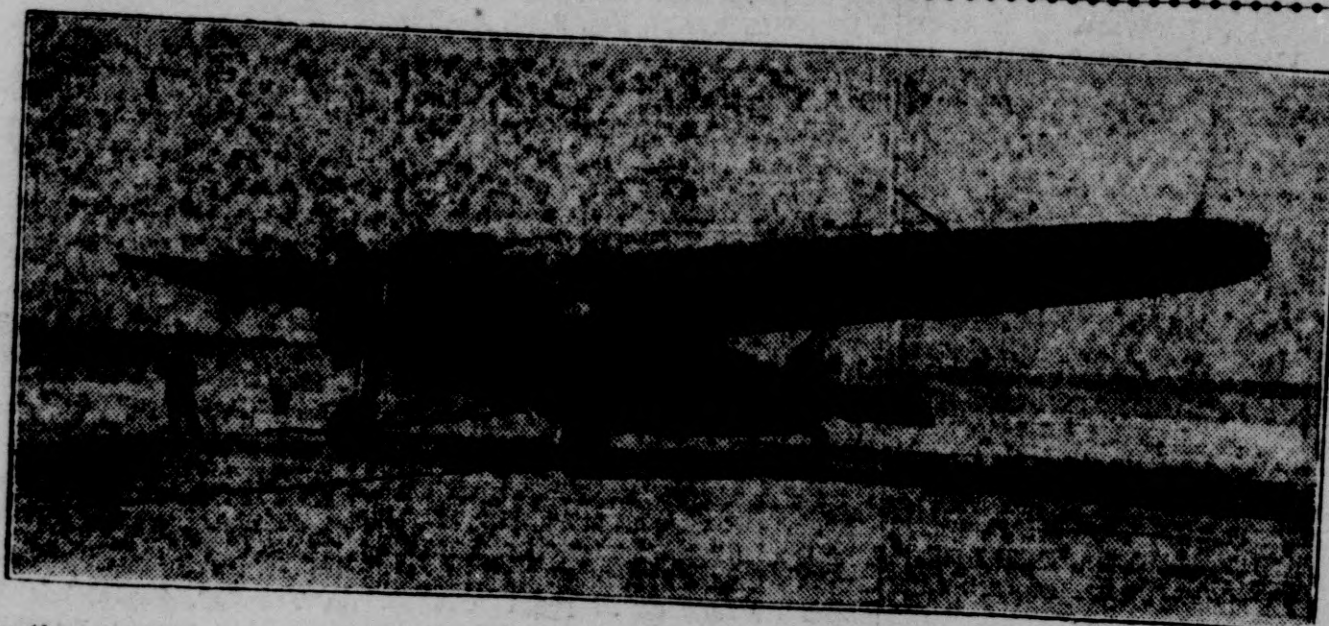

Three Kansas youths arrested a few hours after Brantlinger's murder were exonerated when state police admitted their alibis had been checked and found accurate. Two of the youths said they had been keeping dates with Johnstown girl in that city at the time of the killing and the third youth satisfied authorities he was in Beaver Falls.

All three were held, however, to face charges of possessing a stolen auto and carrying a pistol.

Investigators were armed with two new clues as they renewed their search today. One was the ballistic test of the bullet which killed Brantlinger, which revealed that the death weapon was a high powered rifle instead of a revolver.

The second clue, which indicated the killers were familiar with the gas station and its surroundings was brought to light when it was learned the robbers had turned on a hidden switch to light up the station while they gathered their loot while another switch in plain sight had not been touched.

Famous Flier Expected Today

Under the auspices of the New Castle Aero club, the famous flier, Captain O. J. Goodsell, veteran of the World war and a flier of 8000 hours' experience will land a tri-motored Ford plane on the New Castle airport sometime this afternoon, according to Chester Minnick, secretary of the club.

Captain Goodsell, with his wife and crew is coming here solely to promote interest in aerial transportation among Lawrence county people. It is not a flight that is tied in with any commercial project, but is solely in the interest of flying. Passengers who wish will be taken over the city for flights over the week-end.

Among the crew is Gilbert Minnick, a New Castle boy, a graduate of New Castle high school in 1929, and a brother of Chester Minnick, secretary of the New Castle Aero club.

The plane is shown in the above picture. It is a tri-motored plane, with Wright Whirlwind engines, a wing spread of 74 feet and a length of 50 feet. It's weight is 10,000 pounds.

Captain Goodsell is coming to New Castle from Barberton, O., and is expected this afternoon.

No Car Strike At Cleveland

Tie-up Threatened For This Morning Is Averted
For Time

HOPE TO SETTLE
DISPUTE SOON

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 5.—The street car strike, set for 5 this morning, was called off last night when the National Labor board took a hand in the situation and offered its services in settling the dispute between the car men and the Cleveland Railway Co.

The machinery of the national recovery administration at Washington was set in motion by Mayor Ray T. Miller, who yesterday afternoon telephoned Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, and Senator Robert F. Wagner, chairman of the National Recovery board, and asked their authority to suggest a postponement of the strike in the name of the NRA.

Miller then called representatives of the company and the street car men's union to his office and urged that the strike be postponed five days, in the hope that in the meantime the differences between the company and the men could be settled with the help of representatives of the National Labor board.

SCOUT PICNIC PLANS COMPLETE

Expect Large Crowd At Camp
Phillips On Saturday
For Event

Plans have gone forward for the scout and scouter family picnic at Camp Phillips for all scouts, scout leaders and parents of scouts who may be able to attend, and it is hoped that a large number may be on hand tomorrow afternoon and evening. Many parents of county scouts have never seen Camp Phillips, and this would be a good time to visit the place. Ralph Davis will be in charge of the afternoon games, and Sid Smith will have a short program arranged for the evening campfire. Tables will be set out in the orchard so that families of scouts may eat supper together, and each group will arrange its own method of serving, etc.

A number of roads are now open to camp; the Butler highway to Princeton Junction road, turning north on this to the Frew Mill road and following this straight into camp, being one popular way; or one can go in through the Rose Point road, or go out through Harlansburg, south on route 19, and in through Grant City. On account of the coming change in seasonal activity, this opportunity may possibly be the last of this season for a general get-together at camp; so all interested friends are urged to take advantage of this occasion tomorrow afternoon.

First Methodist Special Service

Dr. Norris A. White Will Give Resume Of Year's Work Prior To Conference

With the Erie Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church meeting at Meadville next week, a very special service is announced for the local First M. E. church next Sunday morning, in observance of the closing of the Conference year.

Appropriate music has been arranged by William Campbell, musical director, and in the early part of the service a brief and beautiful memorial exercise will be held in honor of the members deceased during the year.

The pastor, Dr. Norris A. White, will present an informing digest of the activities of the several departments of the church during the year, after which a Joash Chest offering will be received to meet the remaining deficiency in the finances for the year. All from the youngest to the oldest, irrespective of the amount of their offering, will have a part in the impressive Joash procession.

At the evening service at 8:00 p. m., recognition will be given to the opening of another school year in our midst, and Dr. White will speak upon "God's School Teachers." This will be the closing service of the Conference year.

The Erie annual conference will convene at Meadville, Pa., Thursday next, and will be presided over by Bishop Adna W. Leonard of Pittsburgh, Pa. At the quarterly conference of the local First Church, held last Tuesday evening, a resolution was unanimously passed requesting the re-appointment of Dr. White as pastor for the coming year.

Squabble Over Who Pays For Funeral

(International News Service) BERWICK, Pa., Sept. 8.—A near controversy resulted between Scott and Centre townships, Columbia county, as the result of the finding of the body of an unidentified man near their boundary lines, about six miles below Berwick, in Susquehanna river.

The body was buried by James A. Dyke, Bloomsburg undertaker. According to a rule, the township in which the remains were discovered must pay the expenses of interment.

The remains were taken out of the river so close to the dividing line that it probably will be necessary to make a survey to determine in which township the body was found.

Jonathan

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Proverbs 17:7—"A friend loveth at all times."

(The International Uniform Lesson for Sept. 10, on Jonathan, the eleventh in a series on "Early Leaders in Israel," is a Samuel, chapters 18, 19, 20, the Golden Text being Proverbs 17:7, "A friend loveth at all times.")

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL
"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." So says Jesus, the friend of sinners and our ideal in friendship as in all other good. Judged by this standard Jesus sets for friendship, the friendship of Jonathan for David must ever remain the ideal of human friendships through the ages. "The soul of Jonathan was knit with the soul of David, and Jonathan loved him as his own soul." This is literally fulfilling the law of loving one's neighbor as one's self.

Essentials of Friendship
The first essential of friendship is unselfishness. When the jealous king Saul sought to poison the pure love of his son Jonathan for David, the young hero shepherd lad of Bethlehem, who had proved his patriotism and prowess in slaying Goliath, the Philistine giant, he reminded him, that "as long as the son of Jesse liveth upon the ground, thou shalt not be established, nor thy kingdom." But Jonathan's friendship stood this acid test, for there was no trace of self-interest in his love for David. Jonathan was willing to say to David his friend, "Thou shalt be king over Israel, and I shall be next unto thee." He was ever willing to decrease if only his friend David might increase.

Fidelity in Friendship
Another essential of friendship Jonathan shows us is fidelity. The course of friendship, like that of true love, never runs smoothly. But Jonathan's was not a fair weather friendship. It was willing and able to stand the storms of adversity. When Saul's murderous jealousy of David would have taken Jonathan's life with David's, Jonathan withheld not his love for his friend in his time of need, nor did he seek to hide it, though it cost him his own life. He never seemed to expect otherwise than that his friendship should cost him something and he was always willing to pay whatever it cost. So through the years of his father's insane opposition to David, Jonathan's friendship shone ever brighter and brighter against the dark clouds of adversity.

Friendship and Religion
Still another essential to true friendship that Jonathan commends to us is the fine religious note that underlay his friendship for David: "So Jonathan, Saul's son, arose and went to David into the wood, and strengthened his hand in God." Jonathan recognized the hand of God in David's selection to succeed Saul on the throne of Israel, and he bowed submissively to God's will, and encouraged David to trust to Jehovah to bring his will to pass.

It is no wonder that at the sad death of Saul and his noble son David poured out his soul in the insane opposition to David, Jonathan: "I am distressed for thee, my brother Jonathan: very pleasant hast thou been unto me: they love to me was wonderful, passing the love of women."

Local Welsh Back From Gymanfa Ganu

Report Chicago Singing Festival Most Enjoyable—Other News Of Interest

(By WILLIAM A. JOHNS)
Brython

Most of the Welsh people of our city are back home after attending the singing festival, Gymanfa Ganu, at the Chicago World's Fair on Saturday, Sunday and Monday. They report having a glorious time in joining in singing the beautiful Welsh and English hymns. The soloists, such as Prof. Daniel Beddoe, tenor, 72 years old, Prof. Mostyn Thomas, baritone and Madame G. Williams Evans were singing at their best and gave great satisfaction to the thousands of people present.

Mrs. Thomas Evans, of East Reynolds street, received a dispatch last Sunday that her brother-in-law, Jenkin Evans, of Connellsville, Pa., had passed away at his home at the age of 81 years. He was born in Wales and came to the United States over 40 years ago. He was a tailor by trade and while in Wales did lots of work for people now living in New Castle. Some of us have been friends of his for over 50 years.

Griffith Phillips of Lyndal street received a very interesting letter from his aged mother a few days ago telling him that she is enjoying life very well at the age of 86 years. Twenty of these years she spent at New Castle on Cunningham avenue. Her husband, John James, was employed as a roller at the Shenango tin plate works.

Very glad to state that Mrs. Tom Grey, of Cunningham avenue, is getting better after the accident she met a few days ago. She is able to use her arm some once more.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Davies, Lincoln avenue, are on their vacation at Scranton, Wilkes-Barre and Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lewis and family, of Wildwood avenue, have gone over the line to Toronto, Canada, for a part of their vacation.

News from Wales is to the effect that the national day of last month at North Wales at a town called Wecscham turned out to be very successful. The attendance was great and the competitions many. A good many of the prizes came to South Wales.

Court Imposes An Unusual Sentence

(International News Service) WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Sept. 8.—The "honor system" is in effect in Luzerne county court with Frank Conniff the central figure in the experiment.

Conniff had been in jail 32 days when he was arraigned for being drunk, refusing to pay a taxicab bill and carrying a revolver. His lawyer pleaded liquor was at the bottom of it all. Judge Clarence Coughlin struck upon a unique course. He decided not to pledge Conniff against taking a drink but stipulated that he write a letter to court every time he did imbibe, therein admitting his act. Conniff agreed, and if the honor system works out he'll ride the water wagon or divert some of his spendings to postage stamps and stationery.

123 Year Old Will Put Up To Courts

Records Show That Bequest Made Under It Is Chargeable Upon Land

(International News Service) NORRISTOWN, Pa., Sept. 8.—Because of a specific provision made in a will written 123 years ago, a situation has arisen which will require the aid of the Montgomery county orphan's court to settle.

A petition was filed with the orphan's court in behalf of Robert W. Kenyon and Mary L. Kenyon, of Edge Hill, in which the court is asked to issue a citation upon the heirs of Abner Bradford, the testator of the will in question, to show cause why a dower charge created in the will should not be released.

The cause in the will which created the charge was: "I give to my girl Isabella Hallowell the sum of $100 to be paid to her when she attains the age of 18 years out of Messuages, lands and premises in Cheltenham, without interest."

It is set forth in the petition that the petitioners are owners of two acres of land in Abington which on May 17, 1920, were conveyed to Howard D. Kenyon and Robert W. Kenyon by the edge Hill Silica Rock Company.

Howard D. Kenyon, one of the grantees in this conveyance died May 30, 1926 giving everything he possessed to his wife, Mary L. Kenyon, one of the petitioners.

It has been discovered this land is charged with the legacy made in the will of Abner Bradford to Isabella Hallowell, and has never been satisfied of record.

The only persons interested in this record are Isabella Hallowell and her heirs. It is upon these that the citation was issued by the orphans court.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd will sail from Boston Sept. 25 for the Antarctic where he will spend two more years, he announced at the White House today where he had been an overnight guest.

"There is still an area down there as big as the United States and Mexico together which is entirely unknown," Byrd said. "We have there an ice age still in full flood and we will look for a new continent. I expect to sail over the south pole again and explore the region beyond."

Byrd will fly today to New York, and to Chicago to inspect his old flagship "City of New York". The ship must be refitted and given new engines for the trip. Byrd then will go to San Francisco to take charge of the former revenue cutter "Baer," which has been donated for his trip. He will sail the "Baer" around to the East coast in time for the departure.

He will take along a number of airplanes with Harold Gurne, his former pilot, as his principal pilot and about 70 men of whom 30 are veterans of his former expedition. He will be based on Little America.

Treasurer Is Ready To Issue Licenses

Hunters Will Also Be Able To Secure Licenses From Justices Of Peace

County Treasurer William O. Pitts has received a supply of hunting license tags for this year.

Treasurer Pitts calls attention to the fact that there has been some change in the law regarding the issuing of licenses. Under the new regulations one person cannot take out a license for another, unless there is positive proof of identification of the person for whom the license is asked. This will prevent persons from other states getting licenses through some friend in this state.

In view of the new regulation and to make it easier for hunters to get their licenses without coming to the county treasurer's office, arrangements will be made with justices of the peace to issue licenses at New Wilmington, Ellwood City, Bessemer, Volant, Wampum and possibly some other places.

The license fee this year is $2. That Minnesota man who won the corn-eating championship by consuming 50 ears may also be fattening himself for market.—Chicago Daily News.

Council Plans Improvements In City At Meeting

Regular Monthly Meeting Is Held By Borough Council Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 8.—Borough council of Ellwood City accepted the petition of several residents of Clover avenue to leave the approach driveway on Clover avenue as it is until a later date when a brick or concrete wall can be built, at a meeting last night.

Plans for improving the present sewage disposal system so it will be able to eliminate the sewage plant in the fifth ward, are rapidly nearing completion. Work on this is expected to start on this very short-ly.

Several sewer projects about the city were planned by council following the recommendation of the sewer committee. Action on this was deferred until the next meeting, so that council will be able to find out whether they will receive any financial aid from the federal government. The sewer committee has two sanitary sewers and one storm sewer in mind. The latter will eliminate the flood condition on Lawrence avenue and Fifth street during big storms.

Council approved the plans of the State Highway Department for the repaving of Fountain avenue and voted to stand their share of the cost. Upon motion by Councilman Alex Main the local Manufacturers Light and Heat Company and the Ellwood Consolidated Water Company will be notified of this plan, so that they can take care of their gas and water lines accordingly.

While the improvement campaign was going on in the city it was decided by council to make a few improvements in the picnic grove in Ewing Park, such as extending gas and water lines. This was left in the hands of the rules and regulations committee.

Mechanical Drawing Will Be Taught In Night School Here

Course To Include Blue Print Reading And Shop Mathematics At Lincoln School

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 8.—A bigger and better course in mechanical drawing is being offered in night school this year. The course to include the fundamentals of blue print reading and with enough engineering to necessitate a knowledge of shop mathematics. This is being tried as an experiment to provide a more beneficial course for shopmen and engineers.

Beginning students are impressed with the need of good printing and several lessons are devoted to the teaching of the slant type of lettering. A thorough grounding is given on the principles of orthographic projection with enough practice plates to insure a knowledge of this fundamental. Lectures are given on the various conventions of the drawing room, the general types of fastenings such as bolts, screws, keys, cotterpins, and on simple machine parts. All drawings are checked and corrected before they are finished. Individual instruction is the keynote to the success of this class.

The advanced students are given more or less freedom in the selection of their plates with the advice of the instructor and their progress depends entirely on themselves. A good bit of design is worked into this class giving the student an opportunity to exercise his engineering ability.

The students are advised to own or have access to a set of drawing instruments, however, this is not essential for registration. You can register for this course next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights at the Lincoln building from 7 to 9.

There was an estimated attendance of 500 or more. Many former residents, some from California, Massachusetts and Connecticut, were in attendance, renewing old acquaintance and reminiscing.

The sports began at 10:00 a. m. with a ball game between the Cardinals of Wampum and the home team. They played the second game at 2:30 p. m. The home team was twice defeated. Following the afternoon game the contest sports were staged with much fun and prizes awarded, as follows: football throwing, John Vitri; 15 yard race, girls 6-8, Annie Ferrucci, boys, Raymond Ippolito; hopping, girls, Miss Cook from Ellwood; sack, 9-12, boys, Joe McMichael; jumping, girls, 13-15, Rita Ferrucci; wheelbarrow, boys 13-15, Vernon Langel; single men's cracker-eating, Leslie Ferrucci, married men, Leathes race, George Edwards; broom throwing, Mrs. May Bilger; Pulaski; single women's ball throwing, Betty Beatrice; longest ball throwing, Thomas Beatrice. The longest hit of the day, Bud Wardman. The third ball game, Auto-Wreckers, Newport vs. Brickyard, Ellwood, in favor of the latter, was played at 6:00 p. m.

At 8:30 an interesting entertainment was given in the church. The program was prepared by Rev. Will H. Fenton and the following took part. The Wampum Methodist church school orchestra, song by Helen Pozzuto, reading by Robert Knowles, song, Robert McMichael; reading, Dimple White; song, Guy M. Davis; monologue, Angie Pozzuto; reading, Mrs. Iva McBride; pantomime, by Mrs. Inez M. Fenton. The accompanists were Guy Davis and Miss Pauline McCollough.

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 8.—Mrs. C. V. Price was hostess to the Happy Hour class of the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church last night at her home just off the New Castle road with 23 present. The meeting was in the form of a wiener roast held outdoors.

Mrs. Dallas Houk was in charge of the devotions and Mrs. Wilbur Barnett of the business meeting. Plans for a chicken supper to be held on October 13 were formulated at this time. The wiener roast followed this. While the wieners were being prepared a period of games and contests were enjoyed.

Auto Operators Under New Law First Of Year

Applications Being Mailed
Out Explain Main Points Of Liability Act

REQUIRE PROOF OF RESPONSIBILITY

HARRISBURG, Sept. 8.—Applications for 1934 motor vehicle operator's licenses will carry the main points of the new financial responsibility law (Uniform Automobile Liability Security Act) on their reverse side. This enables the Department of Revenue to acquaint every operator in the State with the new law which becomes effective January 1, 1934. The application also will carry a reminder of the operator's obligation to file accident reports. No operator can plead ignorance of either law.

The purpose of the financial responsibility act is to protect the public against damage by operators whose records show carelessness or disregard of law. Proof of financial responsibility will be required.

Stipulations

1—When any person is involved in two or more accidents, while operating a motor vehicle during the 12 months immediately preceding application for an operator's license when such accident results in personal injury or property damage aggregating $200 or more excluding injury to himself and damage to the motor vehicle driven by him.

2—Before reinstatement can be had after any operator's license has been suspended or revoked subsequent to January 1, 1934.

3—Where an operator's license and registration certificate have been suspended for failure to satisfy any judgment in excess of $200 arising out of an accident occurring subsequent to January 1, 1934, within 15 days after it became final. Proof of financial responsibility must be posted in addition to satisfying the judgment in accordance with the provisions of the law.

Proof of financial responsibility may be furnished by a motor vehicle operator's insurance policy, a motor vehicle liability policy, by a bond, or by cash in the amount of $11,000 deposited with the Secretary of Revenue. In any case, the insurance or bond must be conditioned for the payment of $5,000 for any one person injured or killed; $10,000 for the injury or death of two or more persons, and $1,000 for damage to property.

Suspended or revoked operators' licenses may be restored or renewal of operating privilege granted only after all requirements of the vehicle Code and the Uniform Automobile Liability Security Act have been met. All outstanding judgments arising out of motor vehicle accidents subsequent to January 1, 1934 must be satisfied in accordance with the provisions of the act and proof of financial responsibility furnished.

These questions must be answered by operator's involved in accidents during the 12 months preceding application, which caused injury to persons or damage to property: In how many accidents were you involved? What was the amount of damage to motor vehicle which you operated at time of accidents? How much was claimed by or paid to others for personal injury? How much was claimed by or paid to others for property damage?

Failure to answer correctly will result in a two years suspension of operating privilege.

Alleged Leaders Of Nudist Colony Are Under Arrest

Michigan Deputies Stage Raid
On Nudist Colony And Arrest Man And Wife

(International News Service)
ALLAGAN, Mich., Sept. 8.—A dancing master and his wife, alleged leaders of a nudist colony, were held on bonds of $100 each and warrants were out for 17 others who had agreed to appear in court voluntarily following a raid on a farm near here.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ring of Kalamazoo, said to be managers of the colony, were charged with indecent exposure.

The raid was made after Mrs. R. L. Angier, owner of a nearby farm, had made a complaint to the sheriff's office. Deputies said 40 persons resided in the colony, living in cabins made only of window screens and walking about garbed in nothing but their shoes. Many of the inhabitants escaped to the woods when they approached, deputies reported.

A member of the colony who asked that his name be kept secret, indignantly protested against criticism of the camp.

"I never saw a cleaner place, morally and otherwise," he said. "Among those I saw there were a professor from a large university, a lawyer of no mean ability, a director of the Chicago Athletic club, and three or four respectable business men from Kalamazoo."

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters Intended For This Column Must Be Signed With Name And Address Of Writer.

SCENIC, HISTORIC SPOTS
Wurtemburg, Pa.,
Sept. 6, 1933.

Quite often have noticed letters from persons who have visited historic spots in Pennsylvania but have never seen anything so far in regard to a real historic spot, namely the Simon Cameron home and Donegal Presbyterian church in Lancaster County.

This is not only a historic spot, but also a beauty spot. The church was founded in 1721 by settlers from northern Ireland, and the present building was erected in 1740 on land granted by John Thomas and Richard Penn. The church is in a grove of large white oak trees and right in front is a tremendous giant of the forest surrounded by a fence which encloses a small monument with the names of sixty one members who on a Sunday morning having received word that Lord Cornwallis had occupied Philadelphia joined hands around this noble oak and pledged their loyalty and lives to their country. It seems that up until this day the pastor had prayed for the King of England but it would seem that this was one part of the service omitted that day. Among the names inscribed on this monument are Acker, Agnew, Allison, Templeton, Sterrett, Cameron, Bell, Boggs, Cambron, Clingon, Curry, Robertson, Fulton, Mercer, Cambron, Whitehill, Galbraith and Lowery. Members of this church have figured prominently in all wars of this country—and among the officers at the battle of Brandywine from this church were Col. Alex. Lorey, Col. Jas. Cunningham, Major Jacob Cook, Sgt. Maj. John Robinson. Also on the tablet on this small monument is inscribed, Psalm 44-3, and besides this is the great limestone spring which gushes forth from beneath the knoll on which the church is built. Enough water runs away from this to supply a small city. There has been built a concrete basin near 200 feet long and fifty feet wide through which it courses cold as ice and crystal clear. This is truly a historic spot well worth the time to stop off and see. Just across from the church stands the Simon Cameron home, truly a beauty spot, owned I believe by a gentleman from Harrisburg. And now for the benefit of any one who wishes to stop in the mad rush thru life and commune with God and nature just drop over there some day and spend a quiet hour. It can be reached from the Lancaster Pike at Rheems turning to left, going to Harrisburg and right from Harrisburg to Lancaster. Or you can turn to left at Columbia on the Lincoln and go up through Marietta to May-town to Donegal: good macadam roads all the way. And would just say that it will repay you largely to stop at Elizabethtown swing over to the Masonic home and see the sunken garden that was built last winter. It is worth a 500 mile trip alone and the beauty of it is unsurpassed by anything I have seen in years. Trusting this will not tire the editor or the readers, will close.

Yours very truly,
GEO. W. GIBBONS,
R. D. No. 1, Ellwood City, Pa.

New Castle News:
I am sending you an editorial printed in the Christian Advocate. Won't you please print it in a prominent place in your worthy paper? I know you have the cause of the Eighteenth Amendment at heart, and I know you will not refuse my humble request. It is very little I can do for the cause of Temperance and I know you will oblige me.

Yours respectfully,
MRS. W. H. ZAHNISER.

Here is the editorial mentioned: STAINS ON THE FLAG
How many saloons the federal government is operating up to date cannot be stated in the absence of accurate data. That the legalized beverage is on sale in the Capitol has been abundantly advertised. A photograph reproduced in the Washington (D. C.) Post of July 24 shows another. It is on the grounds of the famous government hospital, which bears the name of Walter Reed, the martyr son of a Methodist preacher.

Here is a typical bar, brass rail and all, with bottles in evidence and a number of customers of them in uniform. The Post's special writer waxes eloquent over the completeness of the installation. He misses nothing except sawdust on the floor.

There, to the swaying music that comes in over the radio, the boys gather each night—until taps, or until they lap the last keg of beer—and make merry. Men from the medical corps man the bar. Doughboys, field artillerymen, mule skinner, quartermasters, old Army men and new Army men, patients and orderlies lock arms in the Walter Reed bar and toast all branches of the service.

Located in the Post Exchange, the salon de saloon at Walter Reed is a queer combination of ancient and modern bars. One half the furniture saw service in prohibition days, the other half is the latest model bar fixture, with electrical refrigeration and a place under the bar to keep four barrels of beer going at once—full blast.

With their feet on the brass rail, patients and the enlisted personnel of Walter Reed resurrect the army songs. Many forgotten men are coming back. Evidently the post canteen is just around the corner. When it comes, any mother's son is liable to be assigned to bartenders duty. Some of the people who are voting for the repeal have forgotten this detail of the old saloon era. Some of the more numerous dry voters who, by staying away from the polls, are letting the wet majority turn back the hands on the clock of progress, seem to be equally forgetful. It will not be long before they will be wide awake. This is only the beginning. Uncle Sam is signing up to tend bar for John Barleycorn.

PROTESTS CANDIDATES SIGNS
September 6, 1933

Editor of News:
A journey over some of Lawrence County's roads leads me to call attention to the plastering of our roads with political cards and signs. No one can fail to know that another campaign is on. This practice indulged in by some of the candidates not only mars the beauty of the highways and the adjoining fields but constitutes a general nuisance to property owners and a danger to travel.

It seems to your writer that this is a shoddy way to win quick public favor for a public office within the gift of the people.

So great has been the public sentiment against such placing of political signs upon public and private property along highways that the Legislature has enacted legislation against it. I understand that it is unlawful unless the owners give consent to it in writing. If the laws were enforced such things would be stopped, and our highways here in Lawrence County would be safer and more attractive to motorists.

Yours truly,
J. C. HECKATHORNE,

Charge Is Made Against Aronson

Hyman Aronson, junk dealer, will explain to court how he came to have 17 brand new engine brasses in his truck when Detectives Thomas Lynch and John Young happened to look over his load Thursday afternoon. Sixteen of them were the property of the Pennsylvania railroad and one of the Baltimore and Ohio.

Aronson claimed when arrested that he found them lying on a bank at the side of the roadway near the foot of the Mt. Jackson hill. The authorities are of another opinion and he was held under $1,000 bond by Mayor Charles B. Mayne until this morning when he was charged with larceny and receiving stolen goods before Alderman W. J. Ewing by Pennsylvania Patrolman Mont Richards.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

PROTECT APPLE TREES FROM RODENT INJURY

Experience has been a costly teacher for a large number of fruit growers who have learned that way the importance of ridding their orchards of mice.

Although trees which have been girdled by these pests frequently may be saved by bridge-grafting, it is much safer and more economical to prevent the damage than to cure it.

Of the several methods used in destroying mice, poisoning is the most widely practiced in Pennsylvania and has given uniformly satisfactory results. The bait most widely used consists of grain, either wheat or rolled oats, treated with strychnine. Full directions are given in Farmers' Bulletin 1397, "Mouse Control in Field and Orchard," which may be obtained from the office of information, United States Department of Agriculture. This publication describes preparation of the bait and the manner of distributing it in the orchards so that it will be effective against mice and safe from game.

Cost of the bait is about one cent a tree, and time required for the application is not great. If the average mature apple tree is valued at $10.00, it is evident that the loss of one tree costs as much as the bait for 1000 trees. This makes it profitable for any orchardist to utilize this protective measure.

MARKET TAKES PENALTY FROM UNFINISHED LAMBS

Light, thin lambs suffer heavy penalties on the livestock market today, so local sheep growers are urged to send their lambs to market properly finished.

Entirely too many light and unfinished lambs are starting to market in western and northern Pennsylvania. As an example of the penalty for this type of lamb breeders of Susquehanna county received $8.75 for tops and only $5.50 for seconds in a recent shipment to Jersey City. This penalty of $3.25 was made for lack of finish, and because the lambs had not been docked and castrated. From the producer's standpoint this penalty is entirely too heavy.

Careful farmers separate their light, thin lambs from the ewes 3 or 4 weeks before the lambs are to be marketed and either turn them on good pasture or feed them grain. This practice not only improves the quality of the lambs, but it also gives the ewes an opportunity to pick up in flesh before the rams are turned in this fall.

TURKEYS NEED GRAIN AND MASH FOR FINISH

Grasshoppers and grass do not develop high quality Thanksgiving and Christmas turkeys. Lawrence county turkey raisers should feed their growing birds good grain and mash rations.

Feeding work at the Pennsylvania State college indicates that young turkeys require a high protein feed for the first few weeks of their lives. When the poulters are eight weeks old the mash ration should be lowered to about 20 per cent, and when they are 12 weeks old the mash should be along with the mash a grain mixture of two parts of cracked yellow corn and one part of wheat until marketed.

Turkey developer, 20 per cent mash, consisting of 15 pounds of yellow corn meal, 75 pounds of standard wheat bran, 70 pounds of wheat flour middlings, 60 pounds of finely ground hays, 25 pounds of alfalfa leaf meal, 75 pounds of meat scrap, 40 pounds of dried milk and 5 pounds of salt has given good results for finishing turkeys when fed after the poulters are eight weeks old.

Results obtained in feeding trials with 100 Bronze and 100 White Holland turkeys at the Pennsylvania State college and published bulletin 250 show that for the first 12 weeks both breeds required from 2½ to 3 pounds of grain for each pound of gain in body weight. Bronze turkeys required nearly 4 pounds of grain for each pound of gain at 16 weeks, 5 pounds at 20 weeks, and 7½ pounds the last four weeks; while the White Hollands needed 4 pounds at 16 weeks, 6 pounds at 20 weeks, and 7½ pounds the last four weeks. This difference was attributed to the fact that the strain of White Hollands used reached their optimum growth period at an earlier age.

These tests also showed that it required 5,304 pounds of mash and 500 pounds of grain to grow out and finish 100 Bronze turkeys to 24 weeks of age and 5,128 pounds of mash and 483 pounds of grain for White Hollands over a similar period.

DAIRY COWS AND FEED NEED TO BE BALANCED

Many Lawrence county dairymen became discouraged during the past winter and spring as a result of lack of feed and thin cows low in production. Bams were crowded with surplus cows and young stock with not enough feed to run them through the winter. Many cows went on pasture in the spring thin in flesh and low in production, which raised the cost of the milk they produced.

To guard against such a condition during the coming winter, it will be necessary for dairymen to start making their plans soon to adjust their herds to the feed they will have available.

Old cows should be culled out and passed on to the butcher. Only the good cows should be retained in the herd and these fed to produced their normal yield of milk.

Feed cost of producing milk depends upon two things: namely, the feed it takes to maintain a cow and the feed required for her milk production. In the average herd the feed cost of maintenance makes up about half of the total feed cost. This is a fixed cost from which there are no returns. If milk production drops below the normal capacity of a cow, even though the feed cost is lowered, the feed cost per hundred pounds of milk will be raised substantially, because the feed cost of maintenance remains the same.

Those dairymen who took advantage of this fact during the past winter were able to maintain a fair margin between the feed cost of milk and the price received. These same dairymen will benefit still more from an increase in milk prices even when accompanied by somewhat higher feed prices. It will be advantageous for other dairymen also to take a careful inventory of their cows, adjust the number they keep to the feed on hand, and then feed the cows retained according to the milk they produce.

LATE BLIGHT ATTACK HITS POTATO FIELDS

Late blight invaded the potato fields of Pennsylvania the week of August 21, according to information received from the extension plant pathologist of the Pennsylvania State college. If we should have some wet weather this disease will prove to be a menace to the potato crop during September and early October.

Timely spraying with standard Bordeaux mixture, composed of 8 pounds of bluestone, 8 pounds of slaked lime, and 100 gallons of water, will be necessary to prevent spread of the disease and resulting damage to the crop.

Growers who have practiced timely and consistent spraying probably will not have much trouble, but should continue to spray at weekly to 10-day intervals to prevent infection. Late blight is most likely to appear in those fields where spraying has been omitted or neglected. In such cases it may be necessary to spray as often as twice a week to prevent heavy losses. If weather conditions favorable to the development of the disease in an epidemic stage prevail, all growers should be on constant watch for the appearance of the disease and familiarize themselves with the symptoms.

Woman Reports Noise In Woods

Believe Unreported Balloon
May Have Fallen Near Kane, Pa.

WILL SEND PLANE UP FOR SURVEY

(International News Service)
KANE, Pa., Sept. 8.—Possibility that one of the two missing balloons in the Gordon Bennett race may have been forced down in a densely wooded section about 12 miles southwest of here was seen today in the story of a woman living near here.

Efforts were being made at Kane airport to send a plane up to cruise over the wooded section. The woman, Mrs. Michael Milley, said she heard signals from the air over her home Monday morning. A heavy fog and darkness prevented her from seeing anything. Again Wednesday, she said, she heard the signals, this time from the ground and emanating from the forest. She described the signals as sounding "something like an auto horn." They came in sequence, two long blasts and then two short blasts, she said. There is no automobile road through the section from which the sound seemed to come.

Mrs. Milley said she had not known of the balloon race until she reported her discovery today, after worrying for two days.

Four Balloonists Are Still Missing

Deep Concern Over Fate Of Men Not Heard From Since Saturday

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Officials of the international air races today expressed deep concern for four missing balloonists still unreported since they took off last Saturday from Glenview airport here in the annual James Gordon Bennett cup race.

In requesting army and navy air corps and the coast guard service to search for the two balloons Cliff Henderson, director of the races, suggested the bags might have come down in some remote part of the Great Lakes region or in the Adirondack mountains.

The missing men are Ward T. Van Orman and Frank Trotter, flying the Goodyear IX, and Lieut. Z. Burzynski, piloting the Polish balloon.

Farmer Reports Seeing Balloon

Farmer Living In Northern

With Balloon Fellows

(International News Service)
SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Sept. 8.—An unnamed farmer living 25 miles southwest of here today reported sighting one of the Gordon race balloons about noon last Sunday. He said it bore the name "Goodyear Nine."

The bag, he said, was flying low enough to engage in conversation with its occupants who asked direction of the nearest city.

He said he told them Soo was closest and the balloonists said they would try and make it. The wind, he thought, though would carry them towards White Fish Bay. The "Goodyear Six" is one of the missing race balloons.

PLAN DISMANTLING OF OLD LANDMARK

(International News Service)
DENVER—Memories of one of the grandest affairs in the early life of Denver were recalled recently when workmen began dismantling the historic old American house, built in 1869. It was there that Grand Duke

Alexis of Russia was entertained on Jan. 17, 1872, after a buffalo hunt on the plains, arranged by the late Gen. Phil Sheridan and attended by Col. William F. (Buffalo Bill) Cody as scout.

Another objection to a strong central government is that it's easier to fix a local one.

Want All Industries Put On Same Footing

Should Be Required To Take Care Of Waste From Manufacturing Plants

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—The state sanitary water board has been requested by Grover C. Lader, chairman of the Pennsylvania Pure Streams legislative campaign committee to ask the national recovery administration to withhold approval of industrial codes unless the provisions include one directing installation of modern waste disposal apparatus.

In a letter to Dr. Theodore Appel, chairman of the water board, Lader pointed out that one of the chief arguments advanced by Pennsylvania manufacturers against legislation to prevent water pollution was that they would not be able to compete with manufacturers from other states where industries are permitted to dispose of their waste products in streams. This argument could be circumvented Lader pointed out, if all industries were compelled to set the same standards which would prevent those who installed waste disposal machinery from being penalized by industries which failed to do so.

Lader also suggested to Dr. Appel that sewage disposal projects along the Delaware water shed in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware might be undertaken now with the aid of the public works administration. He urged that the three states act together.

Strong, and a delicious dinner, at a beautifully appointed table were greatly appreciated at their attractive home.

Alfred Thompson, of Gardner, spent some time visiting his daughters at Sandusky, and Andover, O., and last Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zorens and children motored to Andover and brought Mr. Thompson home.

Mrs. S. H. Norris, of Gardner, had the following guests recently Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams, Misses Blanche, Ethel and Anna Boyd, all relatives from Ellwood City. Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Anderson, of Beaver, and Mrs. Ed. Johnston of Warren, Ohio, old time friends were there on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Clark, of the Butler road, and their children and their father, Henry Ohl, all went to Berg Hill, Ohio, on Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Miller, where they enjoyed a corn and wiener roast, and Mr. Ohl will stay for a few days. Ida Betty Clark went to school on Wednesday after an illness.

The Gardner Sunday school met a severe blow last Thursday when two of the most active families, the Robbs, and the Walkers, moved to New Castle. A. H. Robb has been superintendent, with the exception of one year, ever since the chapel was built. Taking Mrs. Robb, Kenneth, Frederick, Clifford, Dale and Geraldine, out of their respective classes, is a great loss. Miss Ada Walker has been the efficient secretary, and Miss Malinda was a pillar of strength, teaching, and directing the children in many lines, while David, Mabel, Charles and Helen were all very regular attendants.

FARM PRICE TREND
HARRISBURG, Sept. 8.—The index of prices paid Pennsylvania farmers for important agricultural products made a two-point gain between July 15 and August 15, despite a five-point break in grain prices, according to the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service. The average price of dairy products increased two points due largely to a rise in the price of milk.

Pirates Defeat Giants; Remain In Pennant Race

Pittsburgh Players Hammer New York Hurlers Hard For 14 To 2 Victory

SENATORS LOSE IN TOUGH GAME

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Here's hoping our boss and all our favorite readers were so busy yesterday they did not have a chance to read our little piece for the papers about the baseball game.

It seems we just got through saying the Pittsburgh Pirates were definitely out of the National league pennant race when they up and carried on something terrific, with the result of the goody New York Giants were overwhelmed, 14 to 2, and did our faces—Manager Bill Terry's and ours—get red like claret.

But we still insist we were right and that the Giants will win against the Bucs today, regaining their six and a half game lead.

Pirates Hit Hard.
Of course we may be wrong—again. The Pirates showed plenty. Pitcher Heinie Meine won with ease. The Giants had men on bases in every inning, but only twice did they garner more than one hit in an inning. Suhr, Thevenow and Grace each got three blows as the Corsairs whaled the Giant pitcher, Parmalee, Luque, Clark and Salverson. Fourteen hits by the Bucs, one man hit by pitcher, six bases on balls and an error by Phil Weintraub, the Jewish lad from Birmingham, contributed to the New Yorkers' worst beating of the season.

Rookie Homers.
Weintraub, making his debut in the field, was as nervous as a cat at a dog show and fell right down on his face once. But on his first trip to the plate he poked a home run and after that did better all around. Monte Weaver, Washington hurler, limited the Chicago White Sox to three hits, but two singles and a walk in the ninth gave Sam Jones, Sox veteran, a victory, 1 to 0. Washington got eight hits off Jones, but left nine men on bases.

Walter Beck pitched a swell game for Brooklyn and downed Red Lucas and Cincinnati 2 to 0. Beck allowed only five hits. Young Linus Frey, the Dodgers' new shortstop, aided the downfall of Lucas with three sparkling hits.

Berger Hits Homer.
Lon Warneke scored his 16th win as Gabby Hartnett hit a homer and a sizzling double to win for the Chicago Cubs over Boston 2 to 1. Wally Berger of the Braves whacked out homer No. 26, tying Klein of the Phillies for National league circuit honors.

Seven scattered safeties was Philadelphia's fate against Dizzy Dean and St. Louis recorded it, 10 to 1. Frisch and Martin each got three blows as the Cards pounded Ragland and Berly.

Rookie Harler Wins.
Connie Mack may have another pitching sensation in tow. Johnny Marcum, up from Louisville, scored a shutout for the Athletics over Cleveland, 6 to 0, as he made his major league start. Marcum struck out four and held the Indians to five hits.

St. Louis settled back in the damp cellar with a 12 to 8 beating administered by the Yankees. Larruping Lou Gehrig drove in five runs for the Yanks with three hits, including a homer. George Uhle got the credit for the victory, but Carl Reynolds' homer with two on in the seventh sent Uhle to the showers, Jonny Allen finishing.

Wet grounds stopped Detroit and the Boston Red Sox.

Alexander Says Pitchers Making It Tough To Hit

In Olden Days Game Was Sluggest, Now It Is Pitching Duel Right To Finish

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—Baseball in the past few years has become a hitter's rather than a pitcher's game, but the pitcher is coming into his own again, according to Grover Cleveland Alexander, one of the greatest pitchers of them all. Alexander was here today with the House of David nine.
"The living-up of the ball a few years ago," he said, "took away the advantage the pitcher had over the batter, so that the tendency was to slugfests rather than to duels of skill between pitchers. But the pitchers seem to have things definitely in hand this season, and to be coming into their own again."
In his third season with the bearded House of David team, Alexander expects to have lost none of his prowess. Though the team dropped an exhibition game with the Seals 4 to 3 here last night, Alexander retired the side on strikeouts in one of the two innings that he pitched.

Few Former Men On Varsity Team

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—Only four members of the University of Pennsylvania's 1932 first varsity team are among the 45 candidates summoned by Coach Harvey Harman to report for a physical examination on September 13 prior to the squad's departure for training at Camp Wyomissing, Minisink Hills, near Milford.
Roy Engle, center and captain of the team is the only veteran from last year's starting line. In the backfield, Don Kellett, Wm. Shanahan and Edwin Lewis are the only holdovers who saw regular duty last fall.

Jimmy Hines Scores 68 In Golf Tourney

Long Island Pro Shoots Brilliant Round To Lead In Glen Falls Tourney

(International News Service)
GLEN FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Jimmy Hines, powerful professional of the Timber Point Club of Great River, Long Island, led the field as play in the record round of the Glen Falls open tournament got underway.

Hines, who reached the semi-final of the American P. G. A. championship, carved a magnificent 68 in the opening round to hold the leadership by the slim margin of one stroke.

Of the three golfers in second place, two are comparatively unknown. These are Joe Brennan of Ambler, Pa., who has been making his golf pay dividends in the Philadelphia district this season and the strapping strong boy from Scranton, Felix Sarafin.

The third player is the more familiar Walter Kosak of the Pomonock Country Club, N. Y.
The three turned in cards of 69. The top notchers who were expected to make it a fight among themselves for the top prize of $1,000 failed to click in the opening session but still are not counted out of the running.

Johnny Golden, Connecticut open titleholder, was close on the heels of the leader, turning in a 70. Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y., was in front with 71.
Wild Bill Melhorn, Gene Kunes and Herman Rame, all turned in 72 cards. With Denny Shute, British open champion and the defending title holder, one stroke behind.

Bryan Grant Upsets Vines

Atlanta Midget Tennis Star Defeats Ellsworth Vines For Forest Hills Upset

MUST NOW MEET LESTER STOEFEH

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 8.—He may never be a national champion, but at least he was king for a day. I refer, of course, to that grand little half-pint from Atlanta, Bryan Grant, who overcame the inferiority complex that sometimes goes with a tennis player who weighs no more than 110 dripping wet, and made Ellsworth Vines, the erstwhile national champion, just another guy the girls forget.

If he never does anything else, the midget at least proved for all time that brains in a tennis player can overcome large gobs of physical handicap.

Before taking the court yesterday, Grant told the writer he didn't expect to win three games but once he found Vines was using his head, piece like Babe Herman on the bases, the youngster carefully decided to let his long-legged opponent beat himself.

Meets Stoefeh Today.
No one expects Grant to win the title. He has already worked miracles and it is too much to expect him to beat other stars who have every tennis equipment he possesses plus size and strength. But he has the heart, the nerve and the head to make anybody hustle and that's just what he's sure to do against Lester Stoefeh of Los Angeles, in the quarter-finals today.

This match is going to be one for the high gods of laughter, on one side of the net will stand the gigantic Stoefeh, the Carnera of the tennis world. On the other, the little gamecock, Grant, who is no bigger than an anemic midget Wolgast. Stoefeh, of course, figures to win on form. But form, as you may have noticed lately, is running for the end book even in tennis.

French-Hubbell Will Duel Today

Giants Will Fight Hard With Backs To Wall In Pittsburgh Today

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 8.—Dopesters, during this season at least, never took it on the chin harder than they are in the present Pirate-Giant series.

It was all doped out that pitching would decide the series winner. The inference, of course, was the Giants would be victors due to the class of their "big four"—Hubbell, Shumaker, Fitzsimmons and Parmelee. But what happened? Pittsburgh refused to be intimidated by the prowess of the enemy hurlers and welded mighty bludgeons from the start of the Giant invasion to considerably lessen the gap between their second place and the leading New York club.

The Pirates assured themselves of an edge in the series when they overwhelmed the Terrymen 14-2 for their third win in four games. Rallying behind Heinie Meine afield and at plate, the home team bombarded four opposing twirlers for fourteen hits, including homers by Earl Grace and Gus Suhr, to catapult the Duke of Luxembourg to his thirteenth victory. Bill Terry gave up hope of catching the Pirates after the locals had amassed a 11-1 lead and sent a full team of reserves on the diamond in the sixth to give his regulars a rest.

With a difference of 5 1/2 games existing between the battling nines today's farewell encounter is expected to bring together southpaws Larry French and Cal Hubbard for the second time in three days.

The schedule for tonight—

Plan To Hold Tennis Tourney Open For All

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Declaration of Henri Cochet, noted French tennis star, that he would play against professionals but not accept pay for his appearances, may give the United States its first open tennis tourney.

At its meeting in New York last February, the United States Lawn Tennis Association voted to hold an open tourney this year and Philadelphia was selected as the site. Later it developed no suitable dates were available and the tourney was dropped. Cochet's latest move was seen as reviving interest here in an open meet.

E. S. Merchants Trim Spencers

Merchants Get Two Runs In Final Inning To Win Ben-fit Game Thursday, 3-1

East Side Merchants mullball team won another East Side mullball league game last night at Rose Avenue Field. This time the count was 3 to 1. The Merchants won out in the final half of the eighth by getting to McCahey and scoring a pair of runs. The game was played as a benefit for Lee "Newt" Campbell, the injured Spencer player, and quite a fine sum was realized.

The games was one of the best of the year and held a big crowd in suspense until the final inning. The Spencers with "Bill" Spencer and Quigley doing the hitting scored in the fifth inning. Bill Spencer had a triple and single. Gresham only allowed three hits. He fanned 11 men. McCahey allowed the Merchants five hits. Seven walks by McCahey didn't help. The game was called at the end of the eighth by darkness.

Score by innings. R. H. E.

Four Games In Mullball Loop

Four games will be played tonight in the East Side Mullball league. Four different fields are in use. The games are ordered to start between 6 and 6:15 o'clock if possible if nine innings are to be played, otherwise an agreement must be made to play only seven.

The league leading Radiator team will return to the wars with the Young Yankees appearing at Radiator field. The East Side Merchants will play the St. Andrews team at Gaston park field. Croton will be at home tonight against the St. Nicholas team. The Oak A. C. team will play the Spencers at Rose avenue field.

Scrimmage Held By High Gridders

Week From Tonight Braddock High Will Be Here For Opening Game

TAGGART FIELD IN FINE SHAPE

One week from tonight and the football fans will get their first look at the 1933 edition of the New Castle High School football team. Braddock High will come here for a night battle. Taggart field today presents a fine appearance. The grass on the field was never thicker nor greener, and in fact the big football plant looks magnificent.

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh sent his New Castle High team through a two-hour scrimmage drill yesterday afternoon at Taggart Field that will no doubt produce results.

Fight For Positions
The matter of choosing a couple of starting ends is the biggest worry for Phil Bridenbaugh. So far the ends have been taken care of by Charles Fleming, George Kneram, Jack Hitchens, Mike Perrett and Harry Tuscano, and all of the boys are about on a par. It is going to be a tough job to select two out of that fine list to take care of the wings. At quarterback two fine young men are battling it out for the starting job. They are Ridley and Capitolo, and here is another spot that Bridenbaugh will ponder over. Both boys are about equal in ability, and you could choose either of them and not be wrong.

Joe Howley seems to have the inside on the center job at the present time, but this man McPeak is going to cause Howley a lot of worry about holding his job. New Castle is well fortified in the center of the line this fall.

Another tough scrimmage drill is on the books for today. There are not many days left to perfect a smooth working combination. Coach Bridenbaugh wants to have his team letter-perfect when they take the field for the opening fall engagement.

Tourney Managers Will Meet At "Y"

Kenneth Lutz Calls Meeting Of Independent Team Managers For Saturday Night

Kenneth Lutz, chairman of the Independent baseball tourney has called a meeting of the managers of all of the teams for the "Y" at 8 o'clock Saturday night, when all official business of the league will be closed up.

All managers are asked to bring or send their score-books to the meeting, as it is desired to get an accurate check on the number of games played and the number won and lost by each team so that championship honors can be awarded.

Learning the Nazi salute to their rulers would be hard for Americans. They couldn't remember to stick up only one hand.

Between Innings

CARNEGIE MIDGETS
Carnegie Midgets mullball team handed the Angelo A. C. a 16 to 3 upset last night to take their 51st game of the season. The game was played at the B. and O. field. Costa limited the Angolos to seven hits. Scungio, Forconi and Pascarella led the attack. Homers were hit by Benincase, Filigenzi, and V. Ross.

PLAY TIE GAME
The Atlantic Juniors and Catholics played a tie game last night at Dean Field 5-5. The game was halted by the umpires on account of darkness. The Catholics have not been beaten this year.

The game will probably be played at a later date. For games with the Catholics call 3889M and ask for Eddie Augustine.

James A. C. Tops Slovaks 10 To 3

James A. C. baseball team with K. Donegan hurling a fine three-hit game, defeated the Slovak A. C. last night at South Hills field 10 to 3. The Slovaks could not solve Donegan. Badurik and Kiroi did the flogging for the Slovaks and allowed ten hits.

Home runs were hit by Ridley and Gonda, with Dunlap and G. Malachio also hitting the ball hard.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Slovaks . . . 005 5—10 10 0
Slovaks . . . 000 3—3 3 3
Batteries—Slovak; Badurik, Kiroi and Pasterik; James A. C., K. Donegan and Dunlap.

Boxers To End Training Soon

Sixteen Of Them Will Participate In Eight Bouts Monday

INTEREST GROWS AS MONDAY NEARS

Only a few more days remain until 16 pugilistic inclined youths climb into the ring at Castle bowl Monday night to show the fans again that Amateur Athletic union boxers possess the happy faculty of knowing how to please the punch hungry public.

On August 28, sixteen of them participated in eight fictive whirled at the bowl and the multitudinous crowd that packed the big arena left the palace of swat, shouting praise for amateurs, each of whom jammed 10 rounds of action into three rounds.

From the minute that the time-keeper hammered the gong for the opening bout until the last second of the concluding punch duel fans were in an uproar of excitement and indications are the situation will find a repetition next Monday night. The bouts which have been arranged contain some of the best talent in the amateur ranks of eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania. Some of the boys go to high school here and others hail from Ellwood, West Pittsburg, Bessemer, Meadville and Ohio cities.

Tony Adamo of New Castle vs Eddie Ciochosky of Meadville, 145 pounds.

Mickie Cutic of Campbell vs Sonny Barry of Youngstown, 112 pounds.

Custy Marini of Ellwood City vs Charlie Arkett of West Pittsburg, 135 pounds.

Sammy Cretella of Youngstown vs Pete Branzovich of Farrell, 135 pounds.

Mike Grayback of Ellwood City vs Eddie Owens, North Hill, New Castle, 135 pounds.

Lem Tamber of Farrell vs Yankee Pagley, South Side, New Castle, 118 pounds.

Frankie Rachig of Bessemer vs Young Demotio, South Side, New Castle, 135 pounds.

Rocco is good and Kennedy landed away up the Youngstown middle-weight tournament ladder.

Cutic won the flyweight championship from Barry in the Youngstown tourney. Barry lost by points. Ciochosky owns the 147 pound title of the Northwestern Pennsylvania district having won the crown at Oil City.

The Jefferson A. C. promoters and Ed. Fritz, matchmaker, said Monday's scraps will start at 9 p. m. fast time.

The bouts are sanctioned by the A. M. A. of the A. A. U. and the Pennsylvania Commonwealth Athletic commission.

WAGGLE CLUB BY MOVING WRISTS NOT ELBOWS

Number 89

ALEX MORRISON says: A brief waggle of the club back and forth before starting your swing should help you to get away smoothly and easily, but there are ways of wagging the club.

The motion should be made with very little arm and body action; most of the movement being covered by an action of the wrists. Then you can be sure to benefit by the action.

If you find your elbows bending instead of your wrists, as is the case with a great many players, you have failed to loosen up your shoulders or body generally.

Start over again and move the club back and forth slowly until you can produce most of the action just in your wrists.

Dull Trading Marks Morning; Drift Is Slightly Lower

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Stocks backed and filled in dull trading today with the general price movement tending toward slightly lower levels.

Weakness in Union Pacific which sent the stock down more than 5 points on yesterday's close was a considerable factor in depressing the list and causing the early unsettled.

Railroad shares aside from Union Pacific preserved a fair amount of strength. Consolidated Gas turned slightly easier on the move of New York City to place additional taxes on the companies. This brought a generally easier tone into the other utilities.

General Motors was easy in the motor group, other motor shares reacted in sympathy.

Liquor shares were steady fractionally under their previous finals but trading here was light.

United States Steel was a weak spot dipping to a new low.

Advisory Committee Discusses ProblemsHOME SURVEY IS WELL RECEIVED

Complaints arising over interpretations of the various codes under the National Recovery Act, were discussed at a general meeting of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce N. R. A. Advisory Committee, at a meeting held Thursday afternoon, in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

This committee, consisting of 18 outstanding business men and women, representing every phase of the industrial, commercial, business, and labor interests of the city, has already disposed of a number of cases which have arisen here. Fortunately, in each instance, an amicable settlement has been reached.

The committee is empowered to weigh evidence on both sides of controversial questions and to report their findings to the proper National Administration board, which further investigates the cases and will then take steps for compulsory adherence to the provisions of the N. R. A.

Survey Under Way
Mrs. S. D. Pearson, chairman of the Women's division of the committee, reported that the home survey has already been started, with 3,000 women participating. They are distributing consumer pledge cards and the signed and stickers which the designers may place upon their windows. Mrs. Pearson reported that the results so far have been most gratifying, assuring a hundred per cent cooperation of the housewives of New Castle in the movement.

There are still pending before the local NRA officials, a number of cases to yet be adjudicated and many new ones are being received daily. All who may not be conforming to the spirit and letter of the NRA are urgently requested to do so by the committee. If violations continue to exist, the Federal government has made provisions to assure that corrective measures will be taken.

There were strong winds, with a maximum of about 30 miles per hour and lots of rain. The sun did not shine all day in St. Petersburg, Fla., on September 4 and following a custom of many years the Evening Independent, the St. Petersburg newspaper, gave away its entire edition free.
